Perspectives Who motivates you the most? Why?

KENDRICK C.

AKA Carlton SP'19

My family motivates me, because in spite of me letting them down in the past, they have yet to fail at loving me the way God does. My family is my motivation.

No one single person motivates me. I'm motivated by those groups of individuals that are selfless, willing to challenge themselves, and those around them. Those people are the truly dedicated to positive transformation who I reach out to when I need help.

JEREMIAH J.

AKA J.G. Wentworth SP '19

My family motivates me because, they deserve to see me succeed in life and to become the man they need me to be.

My mom, because she has never given up on me. She continues to encourage me, and give me hope. She demonstrates determination and success, and has always let love be the reason for everything.

NICHOLAS T.

My mother is the person who motivates me the most. She deserves to see me do something positive with my life while I'm still young.
