Discovering my purpose!

Most of my life I lived for the moment, lost in my ego and pride. Controlled by my feelings, desires, urges, thoughts and perceptions. Living in a dream-like state with blurred awareness. My circumstances and situations constantly changing. I have made many mistakes. Although those mistakes do not make me who I am. I am much more than the result of the lessons that I have learned from. I am now soul-centered and spiritually aware. I thank God for the opportunity to discover the purpose for my life. I believe the primary purpose of life is to awaken to God realization. I strive to be spiritually enlightened. Looking beyond my immediate goals to what I ultimately want to accomplish, considering life's highest potential for development. Aware of my true nature I acknowledge that I have what I need for my well-being and fulfillment. Self-contentment, rational thinking and emotional maturity provide a firm foundation for effective living and progressive spiritual growth. Prosperity is constant when we are conscious of the wholeness of life, our desires are easily fulfilled and our needs are easily provided for by our skillful endeavors and freely expressive Impulses of grace. I am responsible for my thoughts, feelings, behaviors, experiences and circumstances. I am prosperous and will continue to be successful in all aspects of life.

Servant-Leader of the month

I was way-finding on the wayside with no true path. I was stuck in the past, drowning in a sea of regrets. I was crashing and burning in an internal hell created through affliction. Authenticity is a quality that I most definitely lacked. Priorities and goals? Foreign objects adjacent to any vision formed in my eyes. On a downhill slide instead of an uphill climb. Being locked in a cage is what it took for something to change inside this labyrinth maze I call my mind. Living to see others succeed instead of acting out selfishly. Stuck behind a prison fence is where I became free. The epitome of a Servant-Leader Mentality is the fact that our success is linked. Our dreams and aspirations are intertwined in a web of success that is so perfectly crafted our paths must cross in some way, shape or form. In believing this, I have come to cherish serving others in all of my endeavors. I am on a journey dedicated purely to leading to see others succeed. I am swimming in a sea of success formed from serving. I am thriving vigorously in an external heaven created through perseverance. For the first time in my life I can truly say that I have found myself. I owe it to those that I have served for giving me the opportunity to lead. I owe it to those who did the same for me. Most importantly, I owe it to my almighty savior, God.
